Northern Electric Line Connected With the Southern Pacific by Building New Piece of Road.

The early resumption of traffic over the Southern Pacific road between Ogden and San Francisco, after the disastrous results of floods and washouts on the Sacramento division during the past week, is a source of supreme satisfaction to Superintendent Manson and other operating officials of the Harriman system. While the work of reconstructing the damaged bridges and impaired track east of Sacramento is being pushed as vigorously as possible, it will be a week or ten days perhaps before trains will be running over that portion of the main line affected by high water and washouts. In the meantime, all Southern Pacific trains will be sent over the Northern Electric line, which, by the rapid construction of one and one-half miles of temporary new track, has been connected with the Soutern Pacific main line east of the American river.

While the detouring of their trains over the Northern Electric road—also a Harriman proposition—eats up schedule time in that section, the delays will be comparatively brief and will not seriously interfere with regular time schedule

Trains Nos. 2 and 4, due at Ogden at 1:30 and 5:35 this afternoon, came over this newly improvised route and will reach this city this afternoon from three to four hours late.

As soon as everything is running smoothly under the present operating methods, the delay will be cut down to about two hours, and this, under ordinary conditions, can be made up by trains between Reno and Ogden.

Southern Pacific trains Nos. 6 and 10, the last of those sent east over the San Pedro road, will arrive at Ogden this evening and this will end the use of the San Pedro road during the present flood troubles on the Southern

All Union Pacific trains arrived from the east on time today and were sent west over the Southern Pacific.

TON ANNOUNCING RESULT.

Hon. Samuel Newhouse Will Probably Receive Two Democratic Votes, Prohibition Question Discussed.

000000000 REED SMOOT ELECTED.

Salt Lake, Jan. 19.-United States Senator Reed Smoot was re-elected today, both houses voting in separate session. Sen- Q ator Smoot received his entire party strength.

At a joint caucus of the Republican members of the state legislature in Salt Lake last evening, President Gardner of the senate made a strong speech favoring the nomination of Hon. Reed Smoot for re-election to the United States senate; the nomination meeting with approval he was nominated by acclamation. As soon as the vote was taken, a telegram was sent to Senator Smoot at Washington, advising him that he was the choice of the Republicans of the present legislature for re-election to the United States senate. The present state legislature is made up of two Democrats and the balance Republicans, so that the caucus nomination of Senator Smoot means a nomination in both houses and it also means that when his name is voted upon in the joint session of the two houses at noon tomorrow he will receive every vote of the legislature except two; these two votes are Democratic and it is surmised that they will be cast for Samuel Newhouse for the high office in question.

At the caucus last evening Senator Hirschel Bullen of Cache county and Representative Cannon of Salt Lake county desired to defer the nomination of Senator Smoot until he could be heard regarding the prohibition question, which is now a vexed one before the state solons. This idea, however, did not meet with a responsive chord treatment and prompt attention in fill- from his fellow legislators, and Senator Smoot's nomination followed without a dissenting vote. > He Tried to Prove His Good Character but Failed to Impress

A Ries Carnival man, by the name of Charles L. Troop, drew a consider-able amount of time on the rock pile today as a result of his becoming entangled with another man's grip at the union station.

A traveler, who had set his grip lown for a moment while waiting for a train, suddenly discovered his propcrty missing, and Officer Crompton, being close at hand, discovered Troop with the grip within a few minutes after the alarm and arrested him. Troop was arraigned on the charge of petit larceny and pleaded guilty on condition that he be allowed to take the stand. Permission was granted the results of which were more or less unexpected by the defendant. He stat ed that he had been working in the railroad yards, and, in celebrating his discharge from employment, proceeded to get drunk. He said he had purchased a suit of clothes and a suit case, paying $9 for the former and $1 for the grip. When he got to the station his head was so befuddled that he mistook another's grip for his own. which resulted in his arrest. The defendant could not recall where he bought the clothing except toat it was somewhere on Twenty fifth street. Nor did he know where the clothing was at the present time. The city attorney proceeded to investigate his history during the past year. Detective Pender was called to the stand, also Officer Burke and

Desk Sergeant Critchlow. Each of the officers testified that Troop had been in jail last summer for threatening prospective purchasers of books which he was peddling, and had indulged the officers in more or less fistic exercise while being arrested and locked up. Troop stated that there was some nistake, and proceeded to give a de tailed itinerary of the Reis Carnival company from the time it opened in Washington until the show closed in danc Falls. He admitted being with the show during fair week in Ogden. but denied that he had ever been arrested either here or elsewhere. Despite the defendant's story and as sertions, the testimony of the officers prevailed and the court sentence Procep to sixty days in jail, saving that the matter of stealing the grip was of nore importance than his with the show or whether he had been arrested before in Ogden, and that filling up with a lot of bad "booze" was no excuse for meddling with other people's property.

McGUIRE AND ASSOCIATES ARE BOUND OVER.

Dr. Belnap Cries When Placed on the Witness Stand-Contradictory Evidence-Bail Fixed at $500.

The preliminary hearing of McGuire Bramlett and Garrett, charged with the robbery of Frank Goff, was brought to a close today, each of the defend-ants being bound over to the district court with bail fixed at $500.

In giving his decision the court stated that he considered the gravity of the affair as brought out tarough the various witnesses as fully sufficient to justify him in holding the accused men A number of witnesses were examined today, including Bert Cody, "Slats" Rochelle and "Kelly" Collins, who carried Goff upstairs while he was in an unconscious condition. Another star witness, Dr. Belnap, who had apparently been held back for sev-eral days by the defense, was put on the stand and, upon being asked an unimportant question by the defendant's attorney, broke down and sobbed like an hysterical child. The city physician was called to attend him, after which he was taken to an ante-room and his testimony taken.

Chief Clerk Jones, of the Utah Construction Co., was called and told of issuing to Frank Goff a check for $291 on the day stated in the testimony, the cancelled check being introduced as evidence and registered as an ex-

The testimony of Dr. Belnap did not agree with that given by his colleague, Dr. Estes. The latter said that he went alone to attend Goff, while the testimony of Dr. Belnap, as well as Mrs. Loveless, was to the effect that Dr. Belnap had accompanied Estes and was in the room when Estes wrote the prescription. Beinap stated that Goff talked disconnectedly of having money enough to pay his doctor bill and afterward said he had been robbed of $290 in bills, $60 in gold and a gold watch. Belnap went down and asked about Goff's money in view of insuring the payment of his bill, and McGuire said he did not know Goff nor anything about him. In regard to carrying Goff upstairs former witnesses said that Goff had tumbled over in front of the bar and was taken immediately up stairs, but another witness then stated that he had been called to assist and that he had found Goff lying in a back room unconscious, tending to corroborate the story of Goff.

HOW SMALLPOX WAS SPREAD Girl Patient Attends Dance During

Holldays and Exposes Public. Panguitch, Garfield Co., Jan. 18 .-

The people of this city are much ex-ercised over the smallpox contagion here. It seems that during the holldays, at a dance where so many of the people were gathered, a young we man who had the disease, and wh had escaped the quarantine physician brushed off the scabs from her face and using plenty of face powder, cam to the dance and mingled freely with the people, thus exposing all who were at the dance. So many of the young people going to school at Provo, Bee ver and Cedar, being in the 2350mbly at the time, would be likely to take the dread disease with them on their return, and yet be perfectly innocent of their condition. It is understood that the Beaver school has closed down on account of one of the Panguiter students coming down with smallpox It is thought that the disease is prop-erly quarantined here now.

CENT A MILE RATE HANGS IN BALANCE Salt Lake, Jan. 18.-In three days from now the people of Utah will prob ably know the fate of the plan to get a cent a mile rate to Salt Lake for the Grand Army convention. On Jan. 21 the Western Passenger association will hold a meeting at Chicago. Officials of the Union Pacific and Oregon Short Line railroad will be present, as will also Henry M. Nevius, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army. This meeting is considered by all those connected with the effort to get a cent a mile rate to be a final showing of strength and at the Commercial club it is learned that no move is believed to be practicable that is not made before this meeting.

Col. Sterrett, executive director of the Grand Army's Salt Lake encampment said this afternoon that Commander Nevins had written him that he was going to the Chicago meeting a cent a mile rate. Col. Sterrett also said that D. E. Burley, general passenger agent of the Short Line, would attend the meeting in person, and would do what he could to secure
